As soon as the train started they were discovered on the roof of the express car, and the train crew attempted to put them off, when they started over the top of the train, and ran the entire length, jumping off the rear end of the train. They evidently wanted to take a cool ride.

WHAT THEY LIVE ON.

The orator eats tongue, I hear,
The Sultan, turkey lunch;
The umbrella, mutton chops dinner.
The pugilist his punch.

The fisherman drinks Bass's ale,
The tea, tea made of hops;
The barber eats his chops.
The Turk, tea and coffee drinks,

The banquet man eats meat at last;
Surveyors eat their stakes, methinks,
And editors a roast.

Shoemakers always eat fried soles,

The printer prints at last.

The hunter never eats his robes,

Policemen eat their beats.

Jim Berger, better known as "Blue." An artist born up.

Filled up his tank and started out again.

He stated his color right and left.

And had a lot of sport.

Until the copper ran him up.

Against Judge Wadsworth's Court.

Here Jim owned up just like a man.

And said it was all so:

Paid the court a dollar bill.

And costs to let him go.

MARRIED IN COVINGTON.

Two Well Known Young People Quietly Wedded Yesterday.

Mr. C. Ed. Geisel and Miss Fannie Bramel

Have for some time been devoted friends; and among their intimates it has been known that there was a stronger attachment than mere friendship.

Yesterday morning Mr. Geisel notified his parents that he was going to Covington, that Miss Bramel would accompany him, and that the Rev. T. J. Dodd of that city would be called upon to pronounce them man and wife.

He also sought Justice John T. Bramel, father of the young lady, and in his company advised Mrs. Bramel of his intentions.

There was no objection on the part of the parents of either Mr. Geisel or Miss Bramel—indeed there could be no valid objections—and at 9 o'clock the happy young folks boarded a C. and O. train, and yesterday afternoon they were married by the Rev. Dr. Dodd at Covington.

Mr. Geisel is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Geisel, a young gentleman of exceptionally fine character, who is engaged with his father in a thriving business, and the bride is a most accomplished young lady, endowed with great personal beauty as well as mental and social accomplishments.

Both are devoted members of the M. E. Church, South, and both members of the choir of that church.

Mr. and Mrs. Geisel will remain with friends in Covington and Cincinnati until tomorrow evening, when they will return home and take up their residence with the groom's parents in their handsome boat on West Front street.

The Big Show Coming!

Mr. Geo. W. Smith, General Contractor, Agate of the Great Wallasey Show, who in yesterday arranging for the big show which will exhibit here June 11th. Mr. Robinson, who is one of the oldest and best known of the showmen, was present, and was identified with the large shows of the country for twenty-five years past, informs The Leader that the expenses of the Great Wallasey Show runs from $3,000 to $4,000 per day, and that the expenses of the show will be borne by the exhibitors.

The Modern "Big Circus" is an institution peculiar to America. The old world shows are small comparatively, and the mammoth combination of the two, which characterizes the modern shows of the country and our people, even if the lion on the fence is sometimes bigger than the lion in the cage, no man visiting the up-to-date "Ringling" Circus has ever seen anything like it.

The "Modern" "Big Circus" is a combination of the great "Ringling" Circus and the "Wallasey" show, and the "Wallasey" show is the "Wallasey" show.

The "Wallasey" show is the "Wallasey" show, and the "Wallasey" show is the "Wallasey" show.

The "Wallasey" show is the "Wallasey" show, and the "Wallasey" show is the "Wallasey" show.

The "Wallasey" show is the "Wallasey" show, and the "Wallasey" show is the "Wallasey" show.

PAINES CELERY COMPOUND.

Charles MacDonald, a Prominent Chicago Business Man, is Restored to Health.

Within a few steps of the intersection of two of the busiest thoroughfares of Chicago, if not in the entire country, is a store through the portal of which more people pass in the course of a day than enter and depart from any other establishment of its size in the West. It is a store that has been the stamp of intelligence and culture; women who lead in society, art and letters; men who are prominent in the professions; lawyers, physicians, artists, judges and journalists. The exterior of the place gives immediate evidence of its character, which is that of a center of current news and information. It is the news and periodical depot of Charles MacDonald at 55 Washington street, who writes the following letter:

CHICAGO, February 20th, 1895.

Messrs. Wells, Richardson & Co., Burlington, Vt.—Gentlemen: It is clearly my duty as a service rendered, no matter what its nature.

When, however, the character of the benefit bestowed is such that it lightens the daily burdens of our lives, and changes our nights from dreary watch to periods of tranquil and refreshing repose, the duty resolves itself into a pleasure. A few months ago, owing to the confining nature of my business, I began to feel at first a sort of languor and listlessness, to disguise which I was compelled to bring into play all the strength of will I could command.

The feeling grew upon me, however, and in a short time it took such possession of me that it affected my appetite and digestion, so that I was compelled to give up all my favorite meals with a feeling amounting almost to nausea, and my bed with horror at the restless night that I was nearly certain was before me. It was only by the strongest efforts that I was enabled to hide the change from people who came into my place of business, but my intimate acquaintances were quicker to notice it. I had arrived at a point where I could no longer keep silent upon the subject, and speaking of it to one of my friends one day he suggested that I try Paine's Celery Compound. I purchased a small quantity and had taken a dozen doses I knew that the compound was a good one, for I continued to use it, and felt entirely restored. My appetite is good, I sleep well, and, instead of an irksome grind, my business has again become a pleasure to me. You may put me down as a strong advocate of Paine's Celery Compound. Yours respectfully,

CHARLES MACDONALD.

WIND-STORM.

Much Damage and Many Deaths in Iowa.

Three Schoolhouses and Many Residences Destroyed.

Teachers and Pepul's Killed.—The Towns Damaged Were Perkins, Sibley, Doon, Hull and Sioux Center.—At Least One Hundred Lives Were Lost.

SIOUX CITY, Ia., May 4.—Sioux county was devastated by a terrific tornado Friday afternoon. The storm came from the northwest, and struck Sioux City, a small town about five miles north of the city at 4 p.m. Eight schoolhouses and at least twenty residences and barns near that place were swept away. At the schools two teachers and three pupils were killed and many injured. Two women were found dead about 6 o'clock, so far from the point where one of the school buildings stood.

One man who arrived in Sioux Center late in the evening reported that his house was blown down and he was killed. He himself escaped, and says that at least a hundred people must have been killed. Parties have been sent from Sioux Center and Orange City, neighboring towns, to aid in the search for the dead. It is believed that all will be accounted for by Monday, when according to the notice given by the chief justice, the argument will be begun.

Presumably considerable time will also be necessary for the consideration of the case, and it is believed that it will have been concluded and the preparation of the opinion in the case any part of the previous opinion should be reversed. All things considered, it is believed that final adjournment will not be reached much before the 1st of June.

INCOME TAX DECISION.

The Hearing May Not Be Concluded Before the First of June.

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Friday is the last day on which the United States Commissioner of Internal Revenue has the right to file the documents for arguments during the present term, but the final adjournment will not take place until toward the latter part of the month. The exact time of adjournment has not yet been determined and probably will depend upon the definite idea of the time necessary to conclude the business of the court can be arrived at. The court generally requires about three weeks to dispose of the cases which have been brought, and the daily sessions for hearing arguments cease, and the court has this time taken on the extra work of hearing the reargument of the income tax case which may have been delayed or postponed, the session to a somewhat greater extent than usual. It has not yet been determined what time shall be given to the hearing of the income tax case and the court has been adjourned to the 1st of June.

GERSHAM VILLI.

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Secretary Gresham, it is feared, is critically sick and will be unable to attend the trial. His son is violently excited, and definite accounts cannot be obtained. It is said that Perkins, a small town between Sioux Center and Doon, was directly in the path of the storm, and was completely destroyed.

Later reports say that ten were killed at Doon and three at Perkins. Thirteen dead have been brought into Sioux Center.

The storm lashed 6 miles north-west to Sibley, Ossceola County. Five are reported killed there. Three are reported missing.

Late Friday evening news was received from Sibley to the effect that a storm struck there at 4 p.m., destroying the home of John C. Wetterson, Mrs. Wetterson and injuring Wetterson and his son. No name can yet be learned of the people injured about Sioux City and Perkins.

The Sioux City & Southern train which started at 10 o'clock Friday evening brought several passengers who witnessed the storm. They reported that thirteen dead had been brought in at 6 p.m. It is estimated that the first 100 persons were killed. Mr. Wetterson and his son were injured. The number killed at Doon is now stated at ten. Four or five will probably cover the deaths at Sibley.

As nearly as can be learned the towns which suffered were Perkins, Sibley, Doon and Hull and Sioux Center. Sioux Center and Hull were grazed only by the edge of the storm, and no fatalities were reported in either of them. The number killed at Doon is now stated at ten. Four or five will probably cover the deaths at Sibley.

At Perkins the loss of life is said to have been very large, probably not less than 100. The number of persons killed on farms about the country, must bring the number up to nearly seventy-five or one hundred.

It was difficult to determine Friday night what the loss to property will amount to, but from all accounts it must be enormous.

A STAY-TWO INCH LENS.

The Electric Current Summits Him. He Falls With His Neck Across a Wire. A Life-Saving Device for His Head.

CINCINNATI, May 4.—A young lineman in the employ of the Cincinnati Electric Light Co. met with a horrible death about 11:45 Friday morning. The man with some difficulty, was seen hanging from a wire in a street, and when the accident happened there were three men up three separate poles between Ninth and Eleventh streets.

Knowing the fate awaiting him, Lieut. Gallego attempted to commit suicide while aboard the steamer, immersing four wounds with a penknife in his breast and neck.

He also tried to hang himself in his stateroom.

He was so weak from loss of blood that he had to be carried ashore in a litter.

A medical examination showed his self-inflicted wounds to be mortal, and the authorities, fearing he would die before the death sentence could be executed, shot him with his four compatriots, who was shot Thursday at More Castles.

THE LINEMAN'S DEATH.

The London Times says—

London, May 4.—The third attempt to make a lens for Dr. Pease's telescope has been accomplished with the Standard plate glass works.

JOHN BELL'S THREES.

London, May 4.—The Bank of Commerce of New York, failed Friday morning, having been unable to meet its liabilities at the opening of the market.

John Boyle, the junior partner in the firm, had descended over night, taking with him a sum of money of the firm's money. Mr. Salter said that he was still solvent, and he would go on with the business. It was stated later that Boyle's defalcation would amount to about $32,000.

Damages at Sioux Falls.

Sioux Falls, S. D., May 4.—Half a ton of corn exploded Friday afternoon. The suburbs suffered badly. Many small buildings were blown down, while large ones were moved from their foundations. The explosion was heard about twenty miles west of this place.

The Sioux at Dell Rapids is running over the Milwaukee tracks, and Skunk Creek is also high and flooding farms in its course.
